Some computing verbs

You probably store a lot of important information on your computer. So, it's sensible to back up all your files on a regular basis. Then it'll be less of a problem if you delete something accidentally or if your computer crashes.

A particularly useful feature of most applications is the one that allows you to undo what you have just done – just click on Undo and it's quick and easy to correct anything that you have keyed in by mistake.

After a few years you may want to upgrade your computer as they are always developing machines which are faster and more powerful. If you don't do this you may not be able to run all the software you need. You can usually just download upgrades to your computer's operating system or to your applications from company websites.

Exercises

- 4 How often do you back up your data?
- 5 Has your computer ever crashed?
- 6 Have you ever accidentally deleted anything?

A

The Internet

The Internet / the net is a network connecting millions of computer users worldwide. The World Wide Web / the Web is a huge portion of the Internet containing linked documents, called pages.

If you have a broadband connection then your access to the Internet should be fast. Many cafés and other public places now offer people a wi-fi / wi-fi connection to the Internet - this means that you can access the Internet through a wireless network, i.e. without needing a cable of any kind.

When you browse, you look for information on the Internet. The software that helps you do this can be called a browser (e.g. Internet Explorer® or Firefox®). You use a search engine to help you locate what you want. Google® is one of the best known search engines and people now talk about googling someone or something. You can easily spend a lot of time surfing the net / the Web. [navigating around the Internet, sometimes aimlessly]

A website is a document on the Web giving information about a particular subject, person or institution. The introductory page is called the home page. From this there are links to other pages. Good websites are easy to navigate or find your way around. One option on many websites is an FAQ page. This stands for 'frequently asked questions', a list of common questions and helpful answers. You can bookmark websites that you log on¹ to frequently.

If a website gets a lot of hits, that means that it has been visited by a lot of people.

Sometimes you need to subscribe to a site, which means you become a member of it. This may involve having a special username and choosing a password. You will only be able to log in² to the site if you enter this information correctly.

You can store your data on your computer or phone, or you can store it in the cloud³.

¹ opp = log off ² opp = log out ³ a network of servers on the Internet where data can be stored and viewed from any device

Online communication

You can communicate with others by email. With an email you can include an attachment. You can attach a photo, for example. You can also send someone an e-card. A server is a powerful central computer from which other computers get information. If your (ISP) internet service provider's server is down [not functioning], you may not be able to send emails.

You can use your computer to Skype friends and family - the software allows you to make phone calls using your computer and the Internet, and you can see which people on your contact list are online at the same time. If you each have a webcam, you can see each other as you talk.

Many modern online programs can be called interactive, i.e. they allow users to become involved in the exchange of information. For example, social networking sites like Facebook are a popular way for people to keep in touch with their friends.

A wiki is a website which allows users to add, delete and edit its contents. Wikipedia is perhaps the world's largest wiki. Blogs are also interactive as they are a kind of online diary that readers can add comments to. Many people are involved in online gaming, playing with people who they have never met. Often these games make use of virtual reality. [a set of images and sounds produced by a computer, which represent a place or a situation that the gamer can take part in]

3 Which websites have you bookmarked?	6 Do you enjoy online gaming?

36 Social media

A Social media verbs

My friend posted a video of her baby and it was shared over a thousand times!

Send me a friend request, and then you can see the pictures I took.

I probably update my status about twice a week. I like telling people what I'm doing.

Over 100,000 people subscribe to his video channel and follow him on Twitter.

B A social media app

Here's our round-up of the latest apps. This month we loved CatNapp, a new social media app that allows users to share information about their favourite pets.

We found it very easy to use. You create a profile of your cat, upload a favourite photo and include some basic information about it (age, colour, favourite food). You can then post updates about what your cat has been doing, share links¹ to things you find interesting or comment on other cats' profiles. You can rate videos of other cats' adventures (from one to five stars) or see how many views² or likes³ your post got. The most popular post each month wins a prize!

We found it a little annoying that you can't turn off notifications⁴ when a friend writes something new, but overall cat lovers will adore it. Highly recommended.

Language help

Many of the words in this unit are used as both nouns and verbs. For example:

24 people liked my post.
My post got 24 likes.
I commented on her status.
I wrote a comment on her status.

¹ connections to other websites

² times people have watched it

³ times people have clicked 'like'

⁴ messages to tell you when something has happened

C Online privacy

Top tips for staying safe online

On social media, it's important to think about who can see your personal information:

- If you have to give personal information (e.g. date of birth, address) when you create an account, make sure that it's kept private. It's better not to give this information if you don't have to.
- Always check your privacy settings [choices on your account about what people see on your profile] regularly and make sure you understand who can see what you post. For example, often your profile picture is public, but you can usually make posts on your timeline [collection of photos and other posts on your profile] private.
- Remember that if you are tagged [your name and a link to your profile is added] in someone else's post, it might be seen by a lot of people you don't know. You can ask people to remove the tag if necessary.
- Use direct messages [messages that only the people in the conversation can see] for private conversations, especially if you discuss where you live, paying for things, etc.
- Delete old accounts on sites that you are not using any more. You might forget what information they contain, or the default [what happens automatically if you don't change it] privacy settings might change.
